

WE ARE AISD.

The Austin Independent School District is the heart of public education in Austin, Texas—a city of ideas and innovation that tops the nation’s rankings of the best communities in which to work and live.

AISD educates approximately 84,000 students and embraces 130 diverse school communities in one of the fastest-growing, ever-changing metroplexes in the country.

As a district, Austin ISD seeks to reinvent the urban school experience by preparing all students to graduate ready for college, career and life. We will continue to work toward an organizational culture that values each employee and provides excellent customer service to our students and families. We realize there are many educational choices for families today and it is our goal that Austin families make Austin ISD their No. 1 choice.

AISD students have achieved their best performance under the highest, toughest accountability standards in the state’s history. Graduation rates have reached an all-time high of 86.3 percent and the district has embarked on graduation plans designed to meet the dynamic needs of the 21st century. U.S. News and World Report ranks five AISD high schools among the best in the nation. And, our district has 261 National Board Certified Teachers—more than any school district in Texas.

Despite dwindling state resources, AISD has earned the highest ratings for its management of a $1 billion budget from Moody’s Investors Service, Standard & Poor’s, and Fitch Ratings.

AISD is a champion for every child and is committed to educating the whole child, offering families a portfolio of rich options and programs to ensure all students have the support they need to achieve their potential and dreams. AISD embraces the Community School approach, which recognizes that all children have the potential to meet high expectations in the right environment and that the entire community has the responsibility to provide that environment for all children.

This is the promise of public education in Austin.
