11	I'd consider spaces that allow for bulletin boards everywhere. An educational space requires student work on display, as well as other systems in place, such as how to behave. Stairs should also be safe, considering the possibility of a class going up and another going down at the same time. This means there should be rails on both sides. Windows are wonderful for lighting and should be kept inside classrooms, but I'd prefer classic bricks on the external structure of the school. It's difficult for us to consider where to take refuge when a tornado might hit, among other possible threats. We believe overall that the school is very safe, with key card locks and tall gates that are difficult to climb over.	10/30/2024 7:43 AM

14	High school students in male/female restrooms has caused so many issues and led to much unwanted behavior. The open flex spaces are not usable and we have to hold classrooms in the hallways without doors and walls. There is massive amounts of unused furniture in the flex spaces that encourages students to relax and hangout and avoid going to class. There are too many places for students to hide and they can slip away from floor to floor and never go to class. Also, having one staff bathroom at only one end per floor is inconsiderate. Two separate buildings cause issues and forces administrators to be disconnected and far away from the building where classes and learning are happening.	10/29/2024 5:40 PM

increase in student and staff numbers, as well as future program demands. 2. Size of Functional Spaces: For specialized areas like the athletic training room, consider the specific needs of staff and students. Ensuring the space is large enough to handle multiple athletes and equipment comfortably is essential for a functional and efficient workspace. 3. Proper Wet Area Design: The wet area should be designed with the appropriate flooring and drainage. Use water-resistant, non-absorbent flooring that contains drainage features to prevent overflow and protect adjacent areas. This will help avoid water damage, mold, and other health hazards, which are particularly concerning in a health-focused facility. 4. Adequate Storage: Ample storage should be planned within functional spaces to keep equipment organized and accessible. Having sufficient storage will prevent spaces from feeling cramped and improve overall workflow. 5. Quality Over Cost-Cutting: While budget constraints are often a reality, certain areas (like health facilities) should be prioritized. Cutting corners can lead to long-term issues, like mold or water damage, which will cost more to fix than investing in proper infrastructure from the start. 6. Health and Safety Standards: Facilities that are used daily for health-related purposes need to meet high safety and sanitation standards. Ensuring the right materials and designs are in place to prevent mold and bacterial growth is crucial to maintaining a safe environment. These points could help ensure that future projects better meet the needs of the school community while minimizing maintenance issues.

35	Libraries need to have a book return! Our library does not have one :(Also having two stories in a library is not ideal for security and student supervision. Our library is very echo-y and needs sound panels or something to help with the volume control. We would also recommend against light-colored furniture since it is hard to clean. We also have some chairs that do not have a durable covering so have torn quickly and easily. There is no camera on one of the exits to the building through the library, which is a major security concern. Also, quality soil and local tree species need to be prioritized because we are struggling to keep our non-native trees alive and plant any new plants.	10/28/2024 11:22 AM

59	Thing that went well: -Sinks now have warm water to wash hands with on cold days. - Each hallway has a copier. What should be avoided: Security concern: The idea of a glass campus is a serious security issue. I do not feel safe at all in my new campus. Many people do not feel safe at all - even the children have commented about how they are concerned that the walls/glass wouldn't protect and keep them safe. Small Group Rooms & super large hallways: these are a waste of space and inefficient. It would be better to have bigger rooms so that the classes can spread out. The small group rooms cannot easily be monitored (we've tried), they are a safety concern (children have locked themselves in), and they could've put that space into the classroom so that the space could be effectively used every single day!! Practicality concern: the fact that the rooms are so small yet class sizes keep getting bigger (we have 24 1st graders the last 3 years!). My students kept bumping into each other. Also, none of the built in furniture actually fits things we need like binders, chart paper, etc. No one even measured! The bulletin boards go all the way down to the walls which is such a waste - the children mess up the bulletin board paper because it is so far down low & sometimes they want to sit up against a wall. Also, they put plugs in the middle of bulletin boards, which makes putting bulletin board paper up a pain.	9/30/2024 8:48 PM
60	Design was meant to be open and airy with a full vantage point through from the front to the back (including playground). For safety and security in today's climate, unfortunately that design idea doesn't work terribly well	9/30/2024 12:26 PM
61	Consider the sensory needs of children paired with the stress load of a full school day. Lunch should be a time to relax and replenish and the cafeteria at Casis is loud and overwhelming! Also, we need to better promote safety through site design. Cars should be better separated from pedestrians and sites should be designed to reduce pedestrian/car interaction and promote walkability and minimize the need for crossing guards and managed crossings which are both dangerous and stressful for parents, staff and students.	9/30/2024 12:22 PM
62	The bathroom sharing situation is awful as I have two daughters. No one wants to sit in urine which is all over the seats of the toilets. This happens every day and my daughters sometimes won't use the restroom all day because the boys are so disgusting in the restrooms.	9/30/2024 9:18 AM
63	Get someone who isn't pals with the construction companies to audit buildings before accepting ownership of them. Find someone who can do this job.	9/30/2024 8:08 AM
64	Find ways to scale budget during outrageous circumstances like inflated cost of goods and services during a pandemic. It seems like many corners were cut at Brentwood due to timing of project and extra expense to stand up a reasonable swing space for the campus. The Brentwood community put significant energy into that swing space conversation, which I think everyone learned from, and we were left with very few "personalized" touches in a school that has a significantly smaller footprint than other modernized elementary schools. The campus designs should go further to include more warmth and familiarity for students and staff.	9/29/2024 8:49 AM
65	First the district needs a qualified inspector to do a final walkthrough to confirm the work was done correctly. This could not possibly have been done at Brentwood, Our architecture firm lead us to believe they were the most knowledgeable about building an elementary school.	9/28/2024 6:10 PM

2017 Bond Satisfaction Survey

There are so many things about the design of the school which do not work for elementary students. It is so disappointing that we were forced to design around an old wing of the building. It caused the design to be sprawling and unfriendly to young students with little outdoor space. There were promises made about the building and designs that were not kept and when the CAT would point them out we were always told not to worry, it would be corrected. None of it ever was. Then suddenly the CAT team was never met with again even though the building was not completed. PLEASE consider acoustics! Our building is so noisy. The cafe is unbearable even with retrofitted noise canceling panels. The art studios are dire, they read 80db and higher when students are in the rooms working at a normal volume. When AISD Construction Management was asked to help solve the issue they said "it is not the first time we have dealt with this issue in an art room." Well, the first time should absolutely been the last! It still has decibel readings .gov lists as unsafe for students and teachers. Administration and faculty does not like using the Maker Space because the acoustics make it impossible for people to understand what the speaker is saying. Students are unable to use the outdoor walkways in the courtyard that were presented as the desired walking path so it was not as sprawling, because they need badge access to reenter the building. The outdoor play area for older kids (detention pond area) was presented to CAT as open play space but then it was filled with large rocks and now parents are trying to work with the district to get them removed. The beloved outdoor stage off the old gym/current Maker Space had soil piled up to the height of the stage and trees planted in front and no swing gate to Brentwood Park ever installed making it useless. The front of the building downspouts pour water onto the covered walkway making everyone walk through inches of water during rain storms. I could go on and on. I would love to walk anyone who cares through the building and point all of this out. It is so sad.

70	The design team really helped us define the spirit and atmosphere of the school. I would suggest more student input during the process, at least have more than 2 students selected to represent. Next time maybe pick 4 to help when conflicts arise with the students schedule or graduation. The two students selected eventually stopped coming. Maybe they had input that I was not aware of when it came to furniture selection, I hope student council, or PALS might have had input, I don't have any knowledge if they did so. Our project was impacted by COVID, but meetings did continue via Zoom.	9/20/2024 11:15 AM

The school often smells like sewage. There are also not enough bathrooms for staff or students. Additionally, multiple sinks on the 3rd floor have virtually no water pressure and do not flow enough even to wash our hands properly. 3. The electrical work seems to be faulty and lights in the hallway take turns flickering on and off rapidly. It is a distraction and anxiety inducing.	9/19/2024 2:47 PM

81	-Design & construction teams should provide timely training and back-up documentation...how-to manuals, vendor contact info, warranties, the repair/replacement process, etc....on EVERY item in the building. Many of the campus staff who were here at move-in have left AISD, so it's vital that comprehensive written documentation be made available in perpetuity. These things were promised but didn't happen. What little information we have, I gathered myself & created a binder that I left behind when I retired. Now I'm back and luckily I was able to find the binder in a storage closet. -Think things through to the end before making a decision on what FF&E/amenities, etc. will be at the facility, ie. is this something the District can support long-term? Does the District have the infrastructure and technical skills to maintain or replace things? If the expectation is that the campus perform the work, how will it be funded and who will do the work? I think these conversations need to be had with ALL the people at both the campus- & District-level who handle the facility issues, not just administrators. -Always include office staff, ie. an admin assistant or clerk, in the CAT team.	9/17/2024 5:05 PM
82	Moveable book cases on casters are AMAZING and make for a useful, flexible space! Community rooms should NOT be carpeted. They should have a sink, microwave, refrigerator, and storage as well as a gender neutral restroom. Libraries should be one level/story and self-contained with walls, windows, and doors. Please consider that a library is meant to be a quiet space. Learning stairs are dangerous and do not make sense in elementary schools. There is NO need for screens to be built in to the ceiling. We do need lots of outlets and access to plugs, but NOT in book cases. There should be a way to block the sun from shining into the library and fading spine labels and books. The library office door should have a lock on it. Materials such as glass with lines that cost an excessive amount of money should not be used. Natural light is wonderful!!!	9/17/2024 3:29 PM
83	Casis has lost over 20 trees, part of which was due to the construction process and not having adequate water. Would love to see a something in place to help other campuses avoid losing their trees and landscaping	9/17/2024 12:42 PM
84	Pay attention to community concerns about design concepts that may need to be reworked for logistical purposes (i.e., our CAT noted that the proposed site plan would likely cause traffic issues and it has).	9/16/2024 11:55 AM
85	I think it is important the construction team take into account supportive measures that are beyond just a physical structure. There are also cultural and aesthetic needs that should be taken into considerations when designing a school that is reflective of the community	9/16/2024 10:21 AM
86	Consider the sizes of the classroom toilets. Upstairs, where the intermediate grades are, they also have very small toilets in their classroom bathrooms as well as the primary grades. We are having issues with clogging toilets and bad smells coming from the plumbing. Consider how rain can seep into the buildings and cause water damage. Door locks are difficult to deal with.	9/15/2024 11:10 PM
87	Learning stairs in the cafeteria are a major safety hazard....we have had many falls and broke. Bones	9/15/2024 3:32 PM
88	My honest impression is that all furniture and the design are made for older grades (Gr.1 and up), and I was a bit disappointed. My students are 4-5 years old, and some start the school year before they turn 4. To those students, it's hard to reach the sink, the soap dispenser, and some desks. Wobbly chairs are not meant for these tiny bodies - their legs are not long enough to support themselves, and every year I have a few students who often fall from them. I wish the designers would have considered the height of those very young students and used Lakeshore Learning furniture as a reference (LL's furniture is more young kid appropriate). The quality of walls is cheap, and it's not easy to keep certain tapes on the walls, or when I remove the items I attached on the walls, the wall will come off easily. Please also consider installing one bathroom for each class for young grades. Every day, more than 20 kids have to share one bathroom with another class, which also contains 20 kids. Plus, we teachers sometimes have to use the same bathroom. Lastly, I wish windows would open. I miss being able to open and close windows for ventilation, just to quick to have fresh air from outside and adjust room temperature accordingly. Also, full glass windows don't seem safe to me if a shooter came to	9/15/2024 1:41 PM

the property and shot the windows. I prefer having small windows, not the huge windows that are extended from the ceiling to the floor. Thank you.

89	We are a school not a hospital. This is a glorified intensive care building. Concrete floors? 3 story cafeteria and still not enough room.	9/15/2024 12:45 PM
90	Work on a better plan for pick ups. There's no shade in the walk up pick up area and there's no parking. It's a disaster everyday.	9/15/2024 10:05 AM
91	There are several things I wished they had thought through better. 1. The glass walls are very distracting! My son had extreme anxiety about people always watching him from the hallway. Teachers try to post art work up to prevent the kids from constantly watching what's going on in the hallway. It makes the school feels like there is always a lot going on. 2. The Learning Stairs are treacherous! One or two staff members and one little girl were severely hurt from falling down them. The girl in my son's class still is traumatized and the teacher has to take the class a different way down to the cafeteria. If the arrangement had been done a little differently, railing could have been added more securely in these dangerous spots. 3. The school needed more bathrooms. 2-3 stalls per 2 grades isn't enough. That is a ton of children having to share such a small space.	9/15/2024 10:03 AM
92	Think about how small the children are who attend these schools. We had to apply anti-slip strips to our cafeteria stairs because of so many accidents. The concrete stairs outside were too big and had to be fixed. The hallways should have been designed in a full circle because it takes the kids a long time to get from one end of the building to the other when we have to walk the entire horseshoe. There are not enough adult bathrooms.	9/14/2024 3:55 PM
93	Not tell us to dream big when resources are extremely limited.	9/14/2024 11:12 AM
94	There needs to be more adult bathrooms. Student bathrooms with many stalls and then an open sink area would be preferable. Also please provide additional paint for touch ups.	9/14/2024 9:54 AM
95	Manage expectations for cost and probability of increases in expenses. Principals come and go so don't let them be primary decision makers. Parents and community need more day in future of school. Ours left soon after project and master planning was tied to her vision.	9/14/2024 12:32 AM
96	Need to hire an A/C airflow specialist since some area is freezing cold and some area is hot. A/C often stop working at some area as well. Make sure to pay attention for special equipment for gym like spotlights, speaker systems. Brentwood had installed spotlights, no one noticed there is no control panel for almost 2 years, and still control panel hasn't been installed yet. Not sure how contractor missed it, inspection passed it. But when I asked a parent who run a stage set-up business about the spotlights brand, they told me they usually don't use the brand and probably contractor chose it because of the price. Circle drive has a long roof but gutter is dumping all water under roofed area and people have to walk through puddles almost every time. This could be considered at designing stage, cement could have more angle or gutter system could be installed differently. Stage location could be considered more seriously. If you check Brentwood gym stage, you can see we can also use cafeteria area for the bigger event like 5th graduation or any performances. But it makes a deeper space and people sit down at cafeteria side can't really see anything since it's so far away, and no elevated floor. Instead of deep space, a wider space works better. If you check Lamar middle school, their gym is well designed for small space. Quality is a little concerning, door handles, hinges, floor trims, cabinets... those break pretty easy and often. Display wall near the art room works really well, everyone enjoy walking down the hallway. Sharing / collaborating area for each grade works really well too, there are so many different ways to use those area. I know lots of parents concern about safety, but I do really appreciate windows to get natural sun light. Library space is amazing, wish there were built-in roll down blind for events so students walking down the hallway don't distract inside. No more keeping old building, rain water kept leaking at old building area for almost 2 years. Hope finally it's fixed. New building area is fine, but somehow old building do not like rain and keep inside wet. It's better to just start from scratch.	9/13/2024 10:14 PM

98	School populations fluctuate, make sure there are flexible space options so that a school can grow and shrink over the years. Noise is a big concern in schools - concrete hallways and glass walls are not conducive to calm learning environments.	9/13/2024 11:36 AM
99	Make all buildings accessible indoors if you can. Having to walk outside daily even with covered walkways is challenging. Consider the size of your school. Even with the new design,	9/13/2024 11:08 AM the spaces aren't always functional for all of us. Consider furniture. We bought many chairs that don't practically work for our students because they come apart easily.

100	I feel some autonomy for campuses is good but some items need to be dictated more. Most importantly, we need to prioritize safety as our number one point of thinking over modernized instruction. It is what parents/staff want.	9/13/2024 10:54 AM
101	Meetings could be more efficient (staying on topic with agendas)	9/13/2024 10:20 AM
102	Anticipating more costs during the initial bond process. We need to anticipate that most projects are going to probably cost 25% more than anticipated. Construction costs go up, and there's also a ton of extra work that needed to be done to improve existing structures that were not part of the original scope and budget with the bond. In essence, we've had to end up doing more with less for our overall design. We need to over budget in the bond creation process and then use extra funds to help support projects that need it. Being at the bottom end of the totem pole, sometimes campuses received much less money overall after the design and building of other schools higher on the priority list.	9/13/2024 10:17 AM
103	Create CAT only if there is a legitimate effort to get information from the community.	9/13/2024 10:03 AM
104	I didn't work at the school while construction was happening. However, I've been told that people who were part of CAT had mentioned that this school will not have enough bathrooms, and that is true. On the second floor, there's only two bathrooms for adults. Additionally, one of the bathrooms is constantly out of order, so that then leaves just one bathroom. Furthermore, there aren't enough bathrooms for students. The second grade students have to use bathrooms that are very far away from their classrooms, which leads to a lot of behavioral issues. Secondly, the learning stairs in the cafeteria are unsafe for an elementary school. Students are constantly running on the stairs and getting hurt. Finally, I have a classroom that has windows into the cafeteria. It gets very noisy when lunches are occurring from ~10am-1pm. This makes it very difficult to hold students' focus.	9/13/2024 7:27 AM
105	All the above that I mentioned. Elementary schools don't need to be 3 to 4 floors. We don't need that many windows due to lockdowns and intruder alerts. Also, we need more bathrooms not only for the students but also for teachers.	9/12/2024 6:44 PM
106	The process and structure for construction projects was very well thought out and not rushed, but executed well.	9/12/2024 4:11 PM
107	Maybe don't always go with the most complicated solution? Just because it's new and shiny?	9/12/2024 3:18 PM

4	The best school buildings are always the ones that have research in mind; research concerning what kind of environment students learn best in. This includes making the space their own with their work displayed, warm lighting and good air quality, a place where families can gather and communicate with faculty and staff, a place for faculty meetings, and all considerations for safety, from fires to tornados to other very possible and very real threats from outsiders.	10/30/2024 7:43 AM

7	This is such a poor design and was not created with a functioning high school in mind, but rather getting views of downtown. There are so many dysfunctional aspects of the architectural design and I hope this company can learn in the future and put students' needs and learning at the forefront of their projects.	10/29/2024 5:40 PM

11	The sheetrock is very delicate, which makes it hard for teachers to hang anchor charts and student work easily on the walls without tearing the paint. Also, doorstops need to be installed behind every door ON THE FLOOR, otherwise the door handles will go right through the wall. Students aren't always super careful, and this has happened multiple times on our campus.	10/29/2024 11:41 AM
12	Items left unfinished still not complete and we already need an expansion	10/29/2024 10:28 AM
13	The demographer and committee designated to complete zoning did not listen to the community which in turn under projected the amount of students this campus would have in attendance which caused over crowding in the second year! In turn due to this some kids do not have a classroom and receive lecture time and class in the hallways. Do better!	10/29/2024 10:23 AM
14	The campus is stunning. There are lessons to learn though. The flexible design in seating should not mean that children cannot have a chair. Considering a bean bag chair or a button stool as seating does not take in account the comfort of the learner.	10/29/2024 10:20 AM

23	The lack of care of the trees, landscaping and plants is really sad and lifeless. The trash dropped around the campus and nearby streets is also affecting our neighborhood. Could we do a community work day together to pick up trash and take out dead plants/replant trees (maybe with Treefolks)? I've tried figuring out how to interact with the school but the online calendar is empty, and calls are never replied to at the office. I'm not sure the best way to forge any kind of interaction with the campus. I've also asked that the campus speaker system volume be turned down (we can hear every word that's announced) but I never received an answer.	10/28/2024 11:53 AM

41	The acoustics in the cafeteria make lunchtime miserable. It's sad because our kids need enjoyable social time as part of their development.	9/30/2024 9:30 PM
42	While it might have cost a bit more, renovating the old school would have been the better choice in the long term and overall for the children and for the learning environment. It had more space, it was way more securely built (cinderblock walls & really strong doors). I felt safe in that school. This school I do not feel safe in. This new building doesn't even compete with the old Casis building.	9/30/2024 8:48 PM

46	How do modernization plans starting now contemplate campus safety differently? Are there as many open and collaborative spaces? While giving tours to prospective families, this question comes up a lot — there are a lot of internal and external windows and a lot of open spaces at Brentwood.	9/29/2024 8:49 AM
47	I feel if the Austin community knew all the problems inside this new bond funded building no AISD bonds would win another election. As a tax payer I know my money was wasted. We have a building with air conditioning that does not work. Retrofited pipes in closets built in front of movable shelving, glass doors that were installed backwards so that students could poke fingers between them to gain access when locked, closet doors that have never fit into the door frame so they can not be locked, rubber edging flopping around the edge of glued carpets causing a tripping hazard inside doors (that the district has sent multiple people out to re-glue multiple times that I know of, but they still come unstuck.) The list goes on and on and on. It is just a matter of time before word gets out. This building is such a waste of bond money and a massive disappointment.	9/28/2024 6:10 PM

51	My daughter and the teachers and staff at the school have had a problem with the gender neutral hallway bathrooms both for their lack of privacy and for the girl's having to share stalls with boys who constantly pee on and around the toilets. They should be able to make the stalls for girls and boys and one gender neutral but not force all to use them all and all of them be messed up by boys peeing on them.	9/23/2024 12:12 PM

53	From the outside the campus is beautiful. I wish I could comment on the inside of the facilities. I have only attended a dance performance this year in the new theatre. It looked amazing! I have not toured the new gymnasium, garage, tennis courts, band hall, and other facilities that were improved through the bond. I am grateful to have served on this committee. All of the voices were heard during the process. My four children attended Bowie High School from 2000- 2012. As a parent volunteer in various capacities I was grateful the community passed this bond to make improvements that were sorely needed. The participation rate in extracurricular activities has always been high. And by the looks of it, it continues to be so. Bowie fosters many qualities for our students; to learn, be challenged, to thrive, and to become outstanding members of our community and the world. Thank you for the opportunity to serve Bowie High School and my community during this process. Sincerely, Cyndi Harrison Community Member	9/20/2024 11:15 AM

64	I do feel the physical outcome of the project met the needs of the campus. However, some of the needs of the community was not met due to limits associated with the setting. This had nothing to do with the construction team or architects. I do wish the intended academic atmosphere was aligned with the physical product that was produced. It would appear the academic setting was not set up to reflect the physical structure created.	9/16/2024 10:21 AM

67	We have outgrown our new building. Cafeteria ceiling height is wasted space for our third floor for classrooms. Modernized IKEA furniture is ridiculous. Exposed poles by the library upstairs, people run in to them daily. Our library is too small. No one listened to teachers. So our ICU modified school is what the architect envisioned. Oh 2 adult bathrooms per floor? Thanks	9/15/2024 12:45 PM

76	The only constructive feedback that I have is around the transitioning of responsibilities back to AISD. The training and support was not up to standard or substantial. There should be more intensive communication between AISD and the contracted folks, before releasing the building. And for the good of the school and the district, all egos should go out the door. AISD needs to be open to how a new building should be handled and not stuck in old ways of maintaining a modernized building.	9/12/2024 4:11 PM
