RESULTS OF THE 2008 STUDENT SUBSTANCE USE AND SAFETY SURVEY

FULMORE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Description of Survey

The federal Title IV Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities grant requires annual needs assessment and evaluation of substance use and safety issues. Consequently, each year, a self-report student survey of substance use and school safety is administered to a random, representative sample of AISD students. The survey is used to track student knowledge, attitudes, and self-reported behavior over time. In the Spring of 2008 a sample of 8,436 students in grades 6-12 submitted valid responses to the district's annual survey of substance use and safety issues, yielding a response rate of 73%.² Selected item results are attached. These results should be shared with your Positive Behavior Support (PBS) team, the Campus Advisory Council, and others involved in campus safety planning efforts for your school.

How should sample data be interpreted?

When it is not feasible to survey an entire population, samples are used instead. However, when a sample is used to make inferences about a population the results must be interpreted with caution. For example, although 87% of a sample may select a particular survey response, this does not necessarily mean 87% of the entire population feels the same way. To interpret the sample data cautiously, we have used the following information to construct an interval that describes the range within which the result for your campus population is likely to fall:

- Population size: In this case, the number of students at your campus.
- Sample size: In this case, the number of survey respondents from your campus.
- Desired level of confidence: In this case, 95%.

The 95% confidence interval is commonly used, indicating that you can be 95% confident that the true population result will fall within the constructed interval.

How should Confidence Intervals be used to interpret your campus data?

Based on the Fulmore MS sample of 266 students and population enrollment of 1030, the confidence interval for Fulmore MS is + and - 5%.

To make inferences about your campus population using the sample data, the results should be interpreted with the computed confidence interval of 5% on each side of the sample statistics. For example, 33% of respondents from your campus indicated that student fighting and physical aggression is the most serious problem on your campus. Applying the confidence interval (i.e., adding and subtracting 5%) to the 33% yields a range of 28% to 38%. Therefore, you can be 95% confident that somewhere between 28% and 38% of all students at your campus would indicate that student fighting and physical aggression is the most serious problem on your campus.

When making comparisons between item results from year to year, please remember that small changes may have occurred by chance alone. The confidence interval for 2007 is 5%. Therefore, only differences of 10% or greater (5%+5%) should be considered statistically significant when comparing the results from two different years.

² A total of 8,947 surveys were returned to the Department of Program Evaluation but 511 surveys were removed from analysis due to invalid responses.
